Harm Reduction Template

Harm reduction refers to a set of principles or strategies aimed at reducing harm which are not solely focused on reducing consumption or behavior. Harm reduction can be defined broadly as acceptance of an individual and meeting that person “where they are at” regardless of their behavior or lifestyle. Use this template to reflect on the cycle of change with respect to your patient and brainstorm potential ways to model harm reduction.

Where do you think the patient is within the cycle of change? __________________________

What have you observed to indicate the above-mentioned stage of behavior change?
